CONCEPT NOTE

Five Trillion Dollar economy for India is a vision set by Hon'ble PM Sh. Narendra Modi to translate our commitments with the world and of course to ourselves. The aim behind this is to make the country and its citizens independent and self-reliant in all spheres. Being a Faculty of Management & Commerce we always strive hard for realization of this pious dream of the country. The Conference India A $ Five Trillion Economy: Challenges & Prospects is one such initiative in this regard. Our country has rapidly progressed during the last decade and become the world's fifth largest economy by substituting the economy of Britain, the country who once ruled over us. Work done by Indians over the past seventy five years is commendable and is enough to hold up a mirror to the world. India's contribution to global GDP climbed from 3 percent to 7.2 percent within a short span of time. India occupies world's 17 percent of population and today we are capable and competent not only to fulfill our requirements but also for the larger world. The whole world looks upon us to help them in times of their distress. History repeats itself the proverb proved by Indians as we were self reliant in ancient times and are self reliant now with a prosperous and growing economy. Today every Indian feels proud as India preside over the prestigious G-20 summit which will bring a plethora of opportunities and strengthen our ties with the world's most prestigious and advanced nations. Government has rightly given the slogan of Sabka Saath Sabka Vikas (inclusive development) approach for ripening the fruits of $5 Trillion Economy. We are sure and committed to carve a niche despite the unprecedented challenges in the journey towards the accomplishment of this vision up to 2030. Our biggest strength is our young population a demographic dividend, growing urbanization, digitalization & adaptation of technology. BMU's primary focus is always to mushroom these young researchers and give them the best research atmosphere so that they can help the nation in realizing our targets. The Conference organized by Faculty of Management &

Commerce on $ 5 Trillion economy is one such initiative in this regard.
